Review of Previous Medium-Term Management Plan: Operating Profit

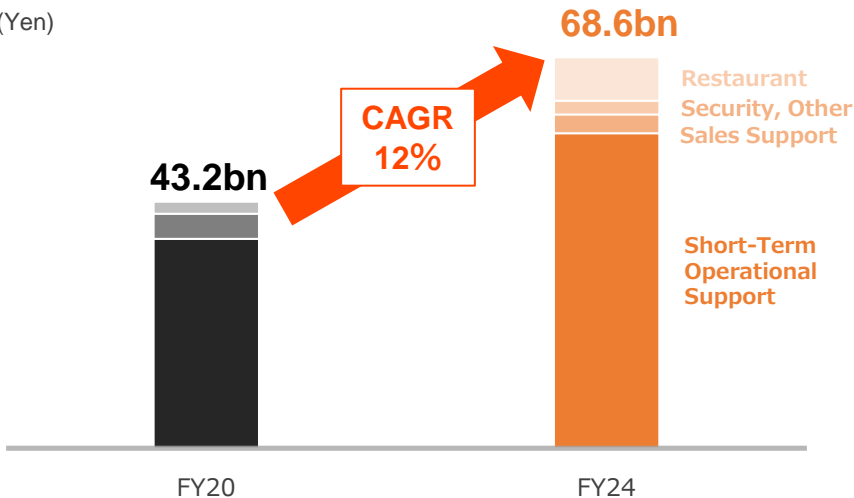

While our Company's Medium-Term Management Plan was not made public due to the COVID-19 pandemic, new targets were set starting in FY12/21. These targets were nearly achieved in FY12/22, but the decision to make strategic investments in the final year resulted in them not being met.

All KPIs grew from FY12/20 to FY12/24, led by strong growth in operating profit.

Our Company's Business Environment

Economic Situation

- Expanding inbound tourism demand
- Continuing inflation and rising prices
- Pressure to reduce costs due to fears of recession
- Advancement of technologies like generative AI

Social Environment

- Decline of the labor force, more rapid low birthrates and ageing population
- Entrance of Generation Z and Generation Alpha into the labor market
- Lifestyle diversification (childcare, caregiving, side jobs)
- Growth of the gig economy market
- More seniors in the labor force

Politics and regulations

- Further promotion of work style reform
- Development of systems for incorporating side jobs and dual employment
- continued higher minimum wage
- Expand foreign worker policies
- Expand regional revitalization policies

■ Expanding inbound tourism demand with Expo 2025 Osaka, Kansai and the World Athletics Championships Tokyo 2025. Revitalization of local economies and tourism-related industries.

■ Rising prices have led to a trend toward benefits and stable incomes, with increasing demand for stabilization of income among workers, including through long-term dispatching and hiring of permanent employees.

■ The introduction of AI and RPA makes it possible to improve operational efficiency and provide a higher level of service.

■ Further declines in Japan's working population will increase demand for utilizing potential labor force promoted by our company

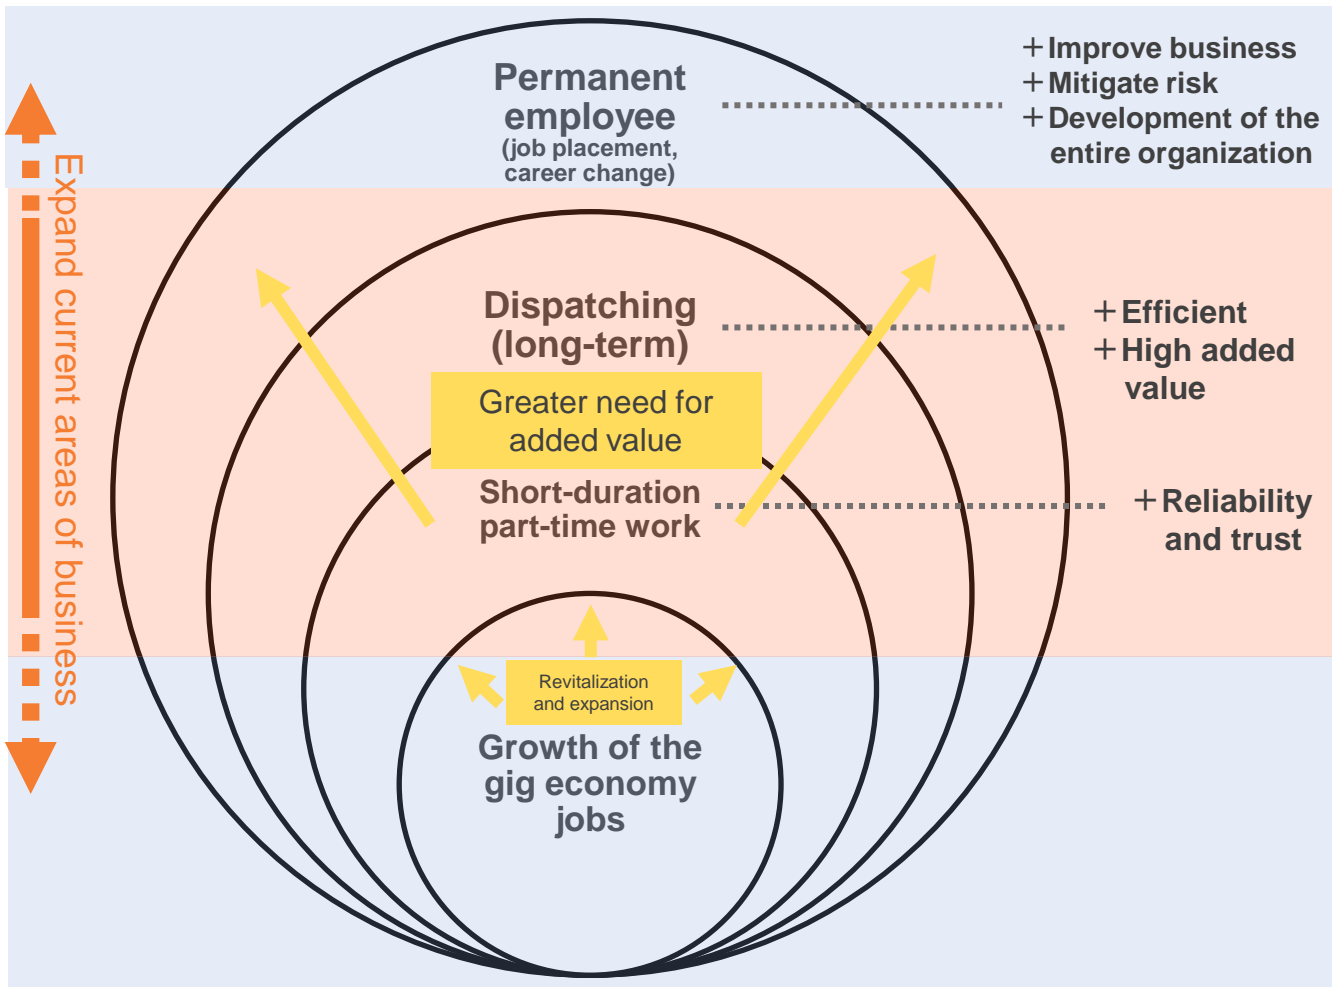

■ The entrance of Generation Z and Generation Alpha into the labor market has seen a spread of flexible working styles to accommodate diverse values. Flexible work systems are becoming more common, including shorter working hours to accommodate changing lifestyles, including increased responsibilities regarding childcare and caregiving.

■ There is a good tailwind for the Short-Term Operational Support Business, including the development of systems for incorporating side jobs and flexible working styles becoming more universal

■ A higher minimum wage will raise the need for companies to increase added value (long-term and continual)

■ In response to the trend toward tighter compliance triggered by illegal part-time job, strict corporate management systems will enhance competitive advantage

Market expansion is tied to workers looking for flexible work styles and companies' expectations regarding efficiency, driving business growth

- Gig economy market
 - Attractive to those seeking flexible work styles.
 - Short working hours, so convenient for students and those seeking side jobs.
- Short-term / one-off job market
 - A management system that covers gig economy jobs while ensuring safety.
 - A stable income can be expected. Highly reliable as people are selected according to company needs.
 - Gig economy market growth further boosts market value.
- Long-term dispatching
 - With contracts of one month or more, provides added value in terms of psychological and business stability.
 - Reduces company recruitment costs. Users can hone their skills while earning a stable income.
 - Labor risks are reduced through strict management and support from dispatching agencies.
- Permanent employee
 - Provides workers with the peace of mind of having a foundation for making a living and opportunities for career development.
 - Companies can deepen their relationships of trust with their workers, and gain contributions as a stable workforce.

There are many participants, but as it is a platform-based service, there is limited opportunity for expansion into value-added services.
